

TEN SCORE DIE TO BUY SINGLE TURKISH FORT

Knowing Death to Be Their Lot, Two Hundred Montenegrins Face Murderous Fire to Blow Up Stubborn Tarabosch Fort

ALL WERE PICKED MEN OF ARMY

Explosions Which Shatter Bodies of Self-Sacrificing Band Open Way for Capture of the Last Scutari Defense

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] CETTINJE, April 2.—The great Tarabosch fort, which for months has held the allies off from Scutari, is now practically in the hands of the Montenegrins, thanks to the sacrifice of two hundred bomb throwers, every one of whom lost his life in a last desperate effort to clear the way to the town for the possession of which the Montenegrins were ready to give up everything.

The bomb throwers were picked men, chosen from several battalions. Clambering up the mountainside under a murderous fire from the Turkish guns, they cut the wire entanglements, and getting at close quarters threw their bombs among the Turks, thus opening the way to the storming party. Not one of the bomb throwers returned, but they accomplished their object, and the Montenegrin infantry following closely upon them charged the trenches.

The Turks held their ground, and a desperate bloody hand to hand fight ensued, lasting an hour and ending in a victory for the Montenegrins, who lost three hundred killed and wounded.

Tier after tier of entrenchments had to be taken out the troops of the southern division under General Mashtovitch, to whom the task was assigned, overcame all obstacles. Tactics followed, particularly in regard to the use of the bomb throwers, were similar to those adopted at the capture of Adrianople. But in the advance on Adrianople the soldiers who cut and divided the wire entanglements surrounding the forts, were clad in cuirasses and provided with shields.

At Tarabosch the rough mountainside made it necessary for the Montenegrins to dispense with all impediments.

Despoilers
LONDON, April 2.—Just as Montenegro scored the first real success by getting a foothold in Tarabosch, the key to Scutari, the warships of the powers were gathering along the coast to compel her to give up the most precious fruits of five months' fighting.

After a series of desperate engagements, the Montenegrins, assisted by the Servians are practically in command of Tarabosch. Simultaneous with the arrival of this news came the information that Austrian warships were anchored off Antivari, and that British and Italian warships were on their way to join them for the purpose of making a demonstration which is approved by all the powers, not even excepting Russia.

Should the demonstration prove ineffective, it is said the Montenegrin ports of Antivari and Dulcigno will be occupied.

When the Montenegrin trouble is out of the way it is likely the powers will have to deal with Serbia. Servia informed the British minister it was impossible to withdraw her troops from Scutari, as Serbia is bound to Montenegro until peace is signed, and any drawing back at the present time will be the death knell of the Balkan alliance. Serbia too, is reported to be preparing for the permanent occupation of Durazzo. This action will be directly contrary to the decision of the powers.

Elsewhere, matters are moving smoothly. An agreement has practically been reached in regard to the boundary between Turkey and Bulgaria, although Bulgaria is guarding against any slip in the peace negotiations, by moving virtually the whole of the Adriatic army to Tchaclia. The captured town will be left in the possession of Gen. Darmas. A partial agreement is also reported arranged between Bulgaria and Roumania, the latter getting Silistria.

British to Interfere
LONDON, April 2.—Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, informed the house of commons today that as Montenegro assumed the attack on Scutari contrary to the will of the European powers, the latter had decided to proceed with the naval demonstration off the Montenegrin coast. Two British warships, he said, were ready to participate.

OPIUM CACHE IS FOUND ON BOAT

SEATTLE, April 2.—Customs inspectors found today $2,500 worth of opium hidden in the lockers of the big oriental steamer Minnesota. A smaller cache was discovered several days ago. The search of the boat is being continued. Apparently the government officials had been forewarned that the boat had contraband opium on board.

Schooner's Crew Scouting Trouble Ready To Escape

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] VICTORIA, B. C., April 2.—Captain Charles Prellberg and six men of the crew of the codfish schooner John D. Spreckels, which was cut almost in two by the Harrison line freighter Statesman, last Saturday night in a fog off Point Reyes, California, arrived today on the Statesman. Two members of the crew, Seamen S. Olsen and S. Peterson, were in their bunk in the forecastle when the crash came, and it is supposed they were instantly killed. It may be the bodies will be found in the schooner's hull, which is being towed to San Francisco.

The seven men saved were on deck at the time of the collision, and were prepared for the trouble. Captain Prellberg knew exactly where he was, and that many ships were in the neighborhood and hence, keeping a sharp lookout, he had his men ready to handle the ship quickly in case of emergency.

Prellberg says the Statesman penetrated the wooden schooner as a knife would cut bread. The seven men on deck made no effort to save any of their effects, but clambered at once into the mizzenmast rigging and were able to jump to the Statesman's decks.

WILSON IS FOR FREE RAW WOOL

President and Ways and Means Committee Come to Understanding on Plan Democrats Have Advocated for Two Years

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, April 2.—The removal of all tariff on raw wool was agreed upon between President Wilson and members of the house committee on ways and means, as a result of a conference which ended today. The present plan, which will have the unanimous endorsement of the democratic members of the committee, provides that wool be placed on the free list for which the free wool democrats of the house have fought for two years.

The concession to President Wilson and the free wool advocates takes the place of the fifteen per cent duty the committee had agreed upon. This, in turn was a reduction from the twenty per cent duty on the democratic wooler, revision bill which passed the house last summer, but which failed to become a law.

The free wool agreement, it was claimed by democrats tonight, is expected to bring Secretary Bryan in full accord with the tariff revision program. Free wool members made a contest before the presidential conference in which Representatives Harrison of New York and Rainey of Illinois, both members of the ways and means committee had been the leading figures. Representatives Harrison backed by Bryan, made an ardent fight in the last congress to secure the endorsement of the free wool policy. The understanding arrived at today by the ways and means committee and the president of the bill with its free wool provision incorporated, with the unanimous report from the democratic members places the president in thorough accord with it.

The reception that may be given the free wool plan by the senate leaders is still a matter of conjecture.

President Wilson is to meet Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee and Senators Hoke Smith and Stone tomorrow night and it is expected the attitude of the senate will then be made clear.

Under existing law wool carries a duty of approximately 11 cents per pound or about sixty per cent when figured on the Ad Valorem basis. It is estimated the abolition of the duty will cause a loss of approximately twenty millions to the present government revenues. But the democratic tariff leaders claim this will bring about a substantial reduction in the price of woolen manufactured goods. This reduction of revenues and the possible loss in revenues should sugar be placed on the free list will be made up, the democrats say by the income tax the details of which probably be settled tomorrow by the ways and means committee.

With the work of the house ways and means committee before him and the extra session of congress only a few days off, the president proceeded deep enough in his study of the tariff bill tonight to realize before the democratic caucus meets many of the points

ROME'S TRIBUTE TO MORGAN IS ONE OF GRIEF

Humble People in Streets Raise Their Hats as Funeral Cortege Moves to Train Enroute to City of Havre

CAR DRAPED IN BLACK VELVET

German Emperor Sends a Message of Condolence—Physicians Issue Statement Saying Morgan Was Broken Man Long Before

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] ROME, April 2.—Rome gave a last farewell tonight to J. P. Morgan, whose body was placed aboard a train for Havre. It will be transported to the United States by a steamer, probably the France, sailing for New York on Saturday.

The German emperor sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Morgan as follows:

"Accept expression of my sincerest sympathy in your great bereavement. Your husband's death is a loss not only for you, your family and your country, but for the many friends in all parts of the world, who will never forget him."

The funeral procession to the depot was impressive in its simplicity. The hearse was followed by carriages in which rode Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, American Ambassador, Thomas F. O'Brien, the staff of the embassy, the attending physicians, Dr. Nelson of the American church and a few friends. Platoons of municipal guards acted as escorts. The people in the streets raised their hats as the cortege passed.

The coffin was placed in a special car, covered with black velvet drapery with silver fringe. Floral tributes from members of the family, the German emperor, the municipality of Rome and the American ambassador were placed around the coffin.

Shortly before the departure of the train, the French Consul arrived, bringing a beautiful silver wreath from the city of Aixlesbains.

Physicians in attendance on Morgan issued the following official statement today:

"When Morgan left New York he was a very tired man, physically and mentally. His digestion and nutrition was impaired. He hoped his usual trip to Egypt would be a great benefit, giving him rest and building up his nervous force, especially as he had no organic disease. His appetite, however, failed and consequently his strength did not improve."

"Morgan contracted a severe cold while in Egypt, which further weakened him. A state of mental depression and feebleness developed. He arrived at Cairo in a very run-down condition, but during the three weeks at Cairo he improved mentally and physically, his powers of concentration and memory showing no impairment. The trip to Rome did not fatigue him and he continued to gain slowly for ten days."

"One week before his death, his strength began to fail. He was put to bed on March 26. He became delirious and extreme exhaustion followed. This continued until Sunday evening, when he passed into a state of coma. He died at 12:05 P. M. Monday."

ARREST IS MADE BY RUSE OF THE POLICE

James L. Murphy and Mrs. Estelle Moore Charged With Murder

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Formerly charged with the murder yesterday of Mrs. Irene Mattis Smith, by shooting her through the heart, James L. Murphy, a former Minneapolis policeman and his niece, Mrs. Estelle Moore, entered pleas of not guilty before Police Judge Williams today and were held without bail for a preliminary examination next Tuesday.

Mrs. Moore, for whom the police made search since a short time after the shooting was arrested at the court house today when she came in response to what purported to be a grand jury summons which had been served on Murphy's attorneys. They were believed to have known her whereabouts. She was taken in custody as she was leaving the building after she learned the grand jury was not in session.

The police assert that Mrs. Moore was the instigator of the trouble which led to the shooting, although there is considerable mystery as to who fired the shot that killed Mrs. Smith.

Morris Bohannon, whose attentions to Mrs. Smith were responsible for the trouble is still in jail but will probably be released as there is no charge against him. Murphy and Mrs. Moore declined to make any statement.

SAN FRANCISCO WINS FIGHT FOR FAIR MONEY

House of Representatives Passes Appropriation for $105,000 for the Arizona Building in Frisco in 1915 by Big Majority

In a contest in the house of representatives over the relative merits of San Francisco and San Diego as the seat of the important Arizona portion of the exposition in celebration of the completion of the Panama canal yesterday resulted in a complete victory for the San Francisco forces who not only won, but succeeded in getting an appropriation for $105,000 through the committee of the whole by such a large majority that the matter will be entirely safe when the bill comes up on final reading.

Babbitt of the appropriation committee introduced the bill numbered 88, quite a long time ago, and for a while it looked as if it would not even receive consideration at this session at all, but would die in committee. However it came out yesterday in the committee of the whole and the fight was on. It was considered with the Kerr bill for the appropriation for San Diego.

All attempts to sidetrack the bill were defeated. Captain Kelton of Cochise, Barker, and Babbitt with others were on the job with hot speeches in favor of the bill. Kerr was also in favor of the bill to a certain extent as was Irvine, but they also wanted some consideration for San Diego.

When the vote came the San Diego bill, even if Kerr and Irvine did fight valiantly, was indefinitely postponed and the San Francisco

FRISCO'S CHINATOWN HAPPY OVER NEWS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—News that the United States government would officially recognize the republic of China was the signal today for a demonstration in San Francisco's Chinatown. The decision that Uncle Sam would be the first to welcome the new China into the sisterhood of nations spread like wild-fire through the colony. The merchants hoisted flags and bunting, with the Stars and Stripes entwined with the flag of the new republic.

Montana Facing Flood In Which Many Are Menaced

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] GLENDALE, Mont., April 1.—As a result of the rapid rising of the Yellowstone river here, many families living in the lower parts of the city have left their homes and taken refuge in the highlands.

Charles Krug, a wealthy stockman of this city, is marooned on a ranch fifteen miles from here with the water up to the second story of his house and flowing so swiftly that there is little hope of rescue. Word has also been received that Joseph Devitt, a rancher, and several others are marooned near town. Savageon island is rapidly being inundated.

Appropriation went through with flying colors.

All during the fight for the bill the representatives of the Panama Pacific exposition have been present in the city. C. A. Vogelsang, commissioner for states and countries, has done yeoman service for the proposition and his efforts have been ably seconded by John Edward Rainey, secretary to the mayor of San Francisco, and E. Brady O'Neill, Arizona commissioner for the big fair

MRS. M'CUULLOCH HAS SANE PLAN FOR SUFFRAGE

Tells Mississippi Valley Suffrage Conference That Paraders Should Be Chaperoned—Outlines Better Working Program

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] ST. LOUIS, April 2.—Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, of Evansville, Ind., told the Mississippi Valley Suffrage conference which began a three days' session here today, that women who march in suffrage parades should not trust too implicitly to the chivalry of American men. It was well, she said, for girl marchers to have chaperones. Mrs. McCulloch told how to wage a suffrage campaign, suggesting the following steps.

Procure from the secretary of each of the states the names of all candidates for the legislature and then write to them, asking their views on woman suffrage.

Ask the husbands of suffragists to personally interview the legislative candidates on the suffrage question as a man can do more effective work in this direction than a woman. Have a suffrage bill introduced in the legislature by a member who will champion it as his own measure and not announce he is introducing it "by request."

Carefully select legislators to conduct a suffrage campaign from the floor. Incidentally she advised the suffrage advocates not to look to the lawyers in a legislature for the best support, as a lawyer in a legislature usually was a failure as an attorney.

Always be courteous to the wives of governors and legislators and invite them to a reception.

OHIO TOWNS ARE STILL FACING GRAVE DANGER

Brookport, Ky., Is Under Water and Lives of Many Residents Are Threatened Who Cling to the House-tops

SHAWNEETOWN DESERTED VILLAGE

Most of Inhabitants Have Fled and Few Remaining Are Refugees in the Upper Stories of Main Street Buildings

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] CAIRO, April 2.—Shortly before midnight Col. S. O. Tripp was informed from Springfield that Brookport, Ky., near Paducah was under water and the lives of many residents in danger. They are reported to be clinging to the house tops waiting to be rescued.

A supply of food and men will be sent there in boats and barges in charge of Major Buckner, U. S. A. directly after their arrival here. The boats are expected here at any minute.

Shawneetown Is Deserted.
SHAWNEETOWN, April 2.—All that is left tonight of Shawneetown is a substantial brick and stone buildings behind the main levee and they are considered unsafe. Less than one hundred persons remained in the town which formerly had three hundred inhabitants.

Those remaining are perched in the second and third stories of the Main street buildings. A strong wind completed today the destruction begun by the opening of the south levee yesterday.

The break in the northern levee today also added to the damage.

Much Relief Needed
INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—Hundreds of thousands of dollars are needed to relieve the suffering among the flood refugees in Indianapolis according to a report of the general relief committee made public today. Three thousand families lost all or part of their house furnishings, and an average of at least one hundred dollars will be required for each family. Hundreds of men are needed to clear away the filth left by the flood.

Plans of raising money, to be made available immediately to the sufferers were discussed and it was decided to start popular subscriptions and designate places for receiving contributions.

"We are not guessing at these statistics," said Joseph C. Schaf, one of the investigators on the committee. "The flood victims are helpless and need money and need it immediately. The men are trying to hold their jobs and let the women clean up their homes. The latter is a disheartening task for which many of the women are not physically fitted. Give them money immediately so they can discard their water soaked belongings. That will give them new heart."

Appeals from other cities in the state poured in on Governor Ralston today.

Dayton Is Cleaning Up
DAYTON, April 1.—Dayton citizens continued today their house cleaning work. The work of furnishing thousands of refugees food for an indefinite period still confronts the relief committee, although seven carloads of provisions arrived today. A revised list of the known dead containing 83 names was issued today by Coroner J. W. McKenny, who clings to the belief that at least 200 persons perished in the flood last week. In his opinion others will be found in the wreckage.

Commander Eva Booth of the American Salvation Army and seven assistants visited Dayton today and made a tour of the city.

Gunboat Puts Canadian Away in Round Number Two.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Gunboat Smith, the California heavy weight knocked out Fred McKay of Canada in the second round in a scheduled ten round bout here tonight.

McKay had the better of the opening round, Smith finding it difficult to reach his opponent, who was taller and twenty-nine pounds heavier. Smith weighed a hundred and eighty-three.

The Californian took the aggressive in the second round and managed to get within the Canadian's guard with a left hook and right swing to the jaw which ended the contest after one minute and forty seconds fighting in the second round.
